Introduction

Although, there are only two threatened plants (Platanthera leucophaea and P. praeclara) and 16 species of concern in Oklahoma (Agalinis auriculata, Agalinis skinneriana, Amorpha ouachitensis, Asclepias uncialis, Calamovilfa arcuata, Carex fissa, Carex hyalina, Castanea pumila var. ozarkensis, Cuscuta attenuata, Cypripedium kentuckiense, Eriocaulon kornickianum, Schoenoplectus hallii, Streptanthus squamiformis, Thalictrum arkansanum, Tradescantia ozarkana, and Trillium pusillum var. ozarkanum), 466 state rare species are tracked by the Oklahoma Natural Heritage Inventory. The ONHI is the central repository for biodiversity information regarding Oklahoma, but it has become apparent that not all data for plant species of concern and tracked plant species been entered into the main database. The objective of this project was systematically visit state herbaria database specimen label data. The propose of this research is to insure that the most accurate data exists for tracking and making informed conservation decisions regarding Oklahoma plant species. This data our crucial for ONHI botanists to make informed decisions when re-evaluating the ranking species.

Methods

Specimen label data for species of concern and tracked species were recorded from the Bebb Herbarium at the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma State University, University of Science and Arts of Oklahoma, Northwestern Oklahoma State University, and Southeastern Oklahoma State University, as well as the Botanical Research Institute of Texas. Specimens were reviewed for accuracy of identification. Specimen requested for were housed at the Robert Bebb Herbarium at the University of Oklahoma. While at Bebb, the following data were recorded: all collection label data (i.e., collector, identification, date of collection, collection number, location), resident herbarium, accession number, and annotation. Data were entered into a Microsoft Access database. Priority was given to species of concern. Species tracked by ONHI were then databased.

Results

A total of 4,367 records (Appendix 1) were entered into the database for 347 taxa (Table 1). These data were recorded from specimens at the Bebb Herbarium of the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma State University, Southeastern Oklahoma State University, University of Science and Arts of Oklahoma, and BRIT. Fifty species had a single record. Zinnia grandiflora and Penstemon oklahomensis had the greatest number of recorded specimens. The most specimens for tracked species and species of concern were collected in McCurtain and Cimarron counties. No records were recorded from Grant County.
